

The J. I. Case New Foot Lift Sulky Plow

Meets admirably all the requirements of a successful plow. Its design absolutely insures uniform plowing, so necessary to produce good crops, while its construction eliminates land-side pressure as well as side draft. And with it all it is so simple a boy can operate it. Let us show you all the features which have placed the Case plow so far in the lead.

IRENE FENWICK STARS AT LEECRAFT'S LION

Irene Fenwick, the late star in "Song of Songs," and an actress of much ability, is seen at the Lion theater today in an extraordinary film dramatization of Porter Emerson Browne's celebrated play, "The Spendthrift." This is one picture that every married man and every single woman should see, for it deals with a vital question and will make a lasting impression on every viewer. Who has reared the perfect child? Who has successfully educated the destiny shaping factors of heredity and environment, with a theoretical code of child-rearing, warranted never to fail? "The Spendthrift" is a masterful production in six acts and associated with Miss Fenwick in the presentation are a number of well known names among whom are Cyril Kiching, Malcolm Duncan, Matty Ferguson and many others. The Lion management recommends "The Spendthrift" as one of the big attractions of the season, but it will be shown at regular prices, the first show starting at 10 a. m. and every hour and forty-five minutes throughout the day. Make it a point to see this picture for it is entirely out of the ordinary.

"Scandal" at the Lamara
The Lois Weber picture "Scandal" was shown yesterday at the Lamara theater and was an instantaneous hit. Before night the cozy little theater was full with those who had heard of and were interested in the allegorical picture of which so much has been written and said of late; both in the public press and in the theatrical journals. It deals with the theme in such a bold and convincing manner as to leave no room for cavil. The Smalleys have scored again. The picture is a dramatic portrayal of the ease with which the whole course of a life, or of several lives, may be altered by the work of scandal-mongers. Three happily married couples find their hopes and their whole plans wrecked by a series of unfortunate incidents all of which are the result of gossip which is entirely without foundation. The effect of the use of the allegorical figure of "scandal" throughout the entire picture is striking, well handled and exceedingly effective. The picture will be continued at the Lamara today and tomorrow.

KATHLYN WILLIAMS IN NEW EMPRESS FEATURE

The Selig Diamond Special, "Ebb Tide," in three parts, will be the feature attraction at the Empress tonight and tomorrow. It is from the pen of Lanier Bartlett and is placed on the screen under the direction of Colin Campbell, with Harry Lonsdale, Martha Boucher, Wheeler Falkman and Kathlyn Williams in the cast. There is a strong plot and many opportunities to show their splendid ability as emotional artists. There are many beautiful ocean scenes.

"The Honeymoon Baby" is a Vitagraph comedy featuring Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, who are very popular comedians. One other good comedy and a Hearst-Selig Weekly complete the program.

One of the most thrilling motion pictures ever produced by the Vitagraph company will be shown Sunday and Monday. It is "The Juggernaut" in five parts. Wherever shown it is a favorite feature and the interest of the audience never wavers from the start until the climax, when a heavy express train crashes through the rotting timbers of a trestle into the icy waters of the river. This scene alone cost the company $25,000 and is undoubtedly the most complete wreck scene ever staged. It was produced by Ralph W. Ince and features Anita Stewart, Earl Williams and Julia Swayne Gordon.

SEEKS BROTHER, LOST FOR TWENTY YEARS

James H. Hopkins, Who Came Here Long Ago, Sought by His Sister of Caldwell, Idaho

Can a man be found after twenty years of "dropping out"? That is the question put up to Postmaster Wood by Mrs. N. L. Nichols, who is seeking her brother, James H. Hopkins.

Mrs. Nichols writes from Caldwell, Idaho, stating that her brother came to Phoenix twenty years ago, and located here. Since that time, he has not been heard from by his relatives, who are now anxious to get in touch. Any information about Hopkins, given to the postmaster, will be transmitted to his sister.

of its record, and was again the second most active stock of the season. United States Steel went to 76½, a gain of 1½, the best since its reversal. There was a demand for Steel preferred, which rose 1½ to 114½, the best price in three years, assumed to emanate from investment sources and based on trade conditions. Metal stocks were backward despite the announcement of several increased dividend disbursements. United States coupon 3s advanced ½ of 1 per cent on call.

HERE is a wonderful and unusual play. Not sensationally, but emotionally superb. A play about everyday people such as we meet in daily life. But it is as big as human passions are deep; it is as subtle as human nature is weak. You must make it a point to see this—it is too big a picture to miss.

Conflict at the Plaza
A two reel drama of great strength is "The Conflict" which is the feature picture at the Plaza theater today, and it is backed up with a program that is a winner all the way through. "Postponed" is a one reel comedy drama that is genuinely humorous. "Wooded By a Wild Man" is a comedy of the wildly farcical sort and "The Pool Gold" is a Western drama of great interest, while "The Hand of Mahomet" which ends the bill is a one reel drama that is a thriller all the way through. It is one of the regular "up to the standard" offerings of the Plaza.

The Coliseum
Lee Harrison and his supporting company kept the audience that went to see "The New Statue" in roars of laughter last night. It is one of the funniest offerings ever seen at the Coliseum. There was a little more plot to it than is usually the case in tabloids of this sort; but that did not seem to meet with any particular objection from the audience. Harrison is really an extremely clever negro impersonator and he has become a tremendous favorite with Coliseum audiences.

The Seven Rosebuds and all the supporting cast came in for a lot of applause. Spewing of the Rosebuds reminds us that the management "beats to announce" that Miss Frances Johnson of the same seven flowers will sing for the first time on any stage Ben
